

BRIGHT IDEAS!!!

Looking for some great Honors Contract ideas? We've listed a few here that are a little different from the usual; but remember not to let this list limit you.

- Presentation to a lower-division class/your class
- Interview people of different cultures (or just one) and write a short report
- Job shadow a professional in your field
- Film reviews, such as "With Honors"
- Internet research on a specific topic
- Create an informational pamphlet on topic covered in class
- Performances
 - Vocal; Instrumental; Auditions; Poetry
- Create a power point on a topic related to the course
- Extra homework problems
- Career opportunities report
- Slide show of summer work related to the course
- Computer simulations
- Case briefs of recent employment law issues
- Work in statistics learning center (or another lab) for 20 hours
- Interview companies on various subjects and report findings
- Analyze periodical articles
- Assist the professor with research
- Significantly supplement a professor's lecture
- Book reviews
- Design a database/program
- Read and discuss journal articles with professor
- Graduate level work
- Lew Wentz Project
- Participate in a research project
- Additional readings/biographies
- Research and present an informative program to an organization in the community

Remember to be creative and positive. This experience is supposed to be educational and fun. If you have completed a great contract, please let us know and we can add it to our Bright Ideas List.